0DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1, 3-10 and 34-45, drawn to Jet Aircraft configuration, classified in class 244, subclass 55.
 - II. Claims 2, 11-33 and 46 drawn to a method of operation for jet engines, classified in class 60, subclass 204.

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the first and second jet engines can have the same maximum thrust with no differential created by setting different power.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Response to Arguments

2. In light of applicant's argument filed on 11/18/2002, examiner is unclear to what is being claimed therefore has rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a first and second jet engines having maximum thrust, does not reasonably provide enablement for both engines to be equally powered jet engines when one of the first and second jet engines have a maximum thrust greater than the maximum thrust of the other.

Applicant needs to clarify how when a first and second jet engines that are equally powered jet engines at maximum thrust (meaning both are at same thrust since they are equally powered) have one of its engines at a maximum thrust greater than the maximum thrust of the other (e.g. claim 1, paragraph e).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification, while being enabling for a first and second jet engines to have maximum thrust in equally powered jet engines, it does not reasonably provide enablement for one of the first and second jet engines having a maximum thrust greater than the maximum thrust of the other.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 1-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "one of said first and second jet engines having a maximum thrust greater than the maximum thrust of the other of said first and second jet engines, said thrust differential created by a different power setting on one of two otherwise equally powered jet engines" and other similar limitations on the dependent claims render the claims indefinite. It is unclear how an equally powered engines at their maximum thrusts have one of its engines at a maximum thrust greater than the maximum thrust of the other.
